MADRID, May 29.—General Loma has assumed command of the first corps of the Republican army of the North.

French Political News.

PARIS, May 29.—The Left Centre hold a meeting to-day to consider the means of opposing the Septennate. M. Favre advocated an alliance with the Right Centre in order that the organization of the Septennat might be completed; the electoral law passed and a dissolution of the Assembly be then voted. It is considered that the elections would be more moderate if held under a settled government. The meeting adjourned till Monday, when the final action will be taken as to the course necessary. The Committee of the Assembly having the subject under consideration unanimously approve the postal conventions between France and the United States, but have decided to hear the statements from De Cases and the Postal Director before making a report to the Assembly.

Arrival in Paris of Roman Catholic Pilgrims from the United States.

PARIS, May 29.—The Roman Catholic pilgrims from the United States who landed from the steamer Pereire, arrived yesterday and were received by the Archbishop of Paris, who delivered an allocution and gave them his blessing. They departed this morning for Rome.

[illegible]—Compensation for the Virginius Butchery.

LONDON, May 29.—A report in the afternoon papers about a terrible mining disaster at Clay Cross proves to be unfounded.

Correspondence at the British Foreign Office arising out of the capture of the Virginius and the subsequent execution of her passengers and crew is officially published. It contains a dispatch of May [illegible], 1874, sent by Earl Derby to Layard, British Minister at Madrid, in which the former says: "In view of the difficulties besetting the Government of Spain Her Majesty's government has hitherto been unwilling to press for an answer to its demands for an acknowledgement of wrong done and for compensation to the relatives of victims who were subjects of Great Britain. We now trust that there will be no further delay on the part of the Spanish Government."

Decoration Day was duly celebrated by the Grand Army of the Republic.

It is for the interest of the entire community that the ballot-box be kept pure. Let it be understood among the respectable men of both parties that they will unite in prosecuting both bribers and bribed. There should be no difference among citizens on this point. They should unite to put a stop to the practice of purchasing votes that has made our elections a source of moral pollution.

A gentleman who has been making a canvass of the county says the Independent candidates will have not less than [illegible] majority in the country precincts. SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Thousands of people visited Oakland to-day, the boats on each trip being uncomfortably crowded. The San Francisco Fusileers made their annual target excursion to Alameda.

The saloon keepers of Oakland are much chagrined at the defeat which they suffered yesterday.

The weather to-day has been cold and disagreeable.

Donald McKay and the Warm Springs will go to San Jose Tuesday, thence to Stockton and Sacramento.

There is already talk of getting up a separate celebration of the coming anniversary of national Independence on the part of those who are dissatisfied with arrangements made by the meeting last Friday night.

The law closing beer and dance cellars at midnight is generally enforced. Good effect is already manifest in the diminished number of arrests for drunkenness last night and this morning.

Henry Tilgen went out last night on the bay in a small boat with Fred. Heitman and another young man. The boat was capsized and Tilgen was drowned. His body was recovered to-day. It is reported that the other young man, name unknown, was also drowned, and that his body was recovered.

Miss Lizzie Smith, residing on Clay street, tried to kill herself to-day by taking a large dose of laudanum. The act was discovered, and a physician summoned, who saved her life.

Some ruffians attacked a Chinaman up town this morning, and tried to rob him. He defended himself, and received a stab in the back from one of his assailants which may prove fatal. The fellows then fled. The wounded man was taken to the hospital.

NEVADA.

RENO, May 31.—This morning about eight o'clock while the west bound train No. 8 was switching here a lady passenger, Mrs. Lilly Duncan, was standing on the platform of an emigrant car and was knocked off by the jar of the train in coupling on to the car, and run over, cutting both legs almost entirely off just below the knee. She was immediately conveyed to the county hospital, and surgeons called in and all that was possible was done for her, but could not save her life. She suffered intensely until about four o'clock this afternoon when she died. She had no friends with her except one, her sister.

The Astorian says: Business at the O. S. N. Co's dock is unusually lively. Vessels are laying alongside two deep. Notwithstanding the Ajax took nearly 7,000 cases from the wharf last Sunday, there was scarcely room to land the freight which came on the steamer John L. Stephens last Tuesday morning.

The Nehalem Valley settlers complain that the roads between that place and Astoria are being blocked by persons who have not as much enterprise as would keep a small sized goat alive, and who out of mere spite fall trees across the road. This should be looked to and some means devised to put a stop to it.

Last Thursday seven steamers arrived at Astoria. Three vessels went to sea, one arrived from San Francisco and two more were taking in cargo at the docks. For a new beginner such as this town may now be considered, that was a pretty fair showing for one day. Besides this ten ships and innumerable smaller crafts were in sight at one time. Who will say that Astoria is not a growing city.

Messrs. Thompson and Le Grentz, miners at Coquille, have invented a machine for beach mining. They claim for their new machine the merit of being able to save ninety per cent of the gold visible in the black sand. They have also satisfied themselves by their new method of boiling the sand they can catch all the invisible gold and, what is better, save all the quicksilver.

The Eugene Journal says: Friday evening a poor little boy named Stewart who had been kept by the county for some time died. He was about eight years old and had been partially paralyzed for a long time. The little sufferer had attracted the attention of all who had ever seen him and no one can think of his sad lot in life without a feeling of regret that a fellow mortal should be thus afflicted.

Salem Grange held a business meeting last Saturday at which several candidates were instructed in the private work of the Order. At noon, dinner was spread in the room in Gray's brick formerly occupied by the Commercial school and which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion, and a pleasant hour was spent there by the members of the Grange in discussing the same and in social conversation.

Burglars and reprobates are hovering in the vicinity of Astoria. Last Monday night they visited the residence of Wm. Chance, but only succeeded in producing a scare in that neighborhood. The following night they hamstrung a horse belonging to Mr. Carr, which died from the injury, and a poor man was thus robbed of his property. Report has it that the same night another house in town was entered and $40 abstracted. Look out for thieves.

The Sentinel says: Immediately after election several parties of prospectors will start out from Jacksonville in search of new gold fields. More prospecting will be done this season, probably, than for any previous year during the past ten. For the next five months the mountains will be searched by experienced miners and prospectors as well as novices, for many miles in all directions. "Lost cabins" and places to build cabins will be scared up by some of them.

The Benton Democrat is sorry to learn that the authorities reported in favor of the discontinuance of the lighthouse at Yaquina Head at Newport, and says: It will surely tend to discourage shipping from coming to Yaquina. The policy of the Government on the Atlantic coast is to have a blaze of beacons from Maine to Cape Sable, and instead of discontinuing those on our illy lighted coast more should be built. Economy in this instance is to our mind a false practice.

On the 26th inst. Levi Leland, Grand Lecturer of the Order, organized a Lodge of Good Templars at Liberty church, in Benton county, with 22 charter members. The following are the officers for the current quarter: Marion Cooper, W. C. T.; Ruby Rowe, W. R. H. S.; Adaline Rawlings, W. L. H. S.; Abithar Newton, Jr., W. S.; Laura Rexford, W. A. S.; George Kahler, W. F. S.; Marion Spawr, W. T.; Lemuel J. Crow, W. M.; Betty Rowe, W. M. D.; Alexander Ross, W. I. G.; Robert Irwin, W. O. G.; Charles J. Henkle, W. C.; Samuel Wyatt, P. W. C. T.; George Kahler, L. D.

On the 26th of May Deputy G. W. C. T. Levi Leland organized a lodge of Good Templars at Liberty Church, near Philomath in Benton county with the following officers: W. C. T., Marion Cooper; W. R. H. S., Ruby Rowe; W. L. H. S., Wm. L. Kisor; W. V. T., Adeline Rawlings; W. S., Abiatha Newton; W. A. S., Laura Rexford; W. F. S., George Kahler; W. T., Marion Spawr; W. M., Lemuel J. Crow; W. D. M., Betsy L. Rowe; W. I. G., Alex. Ross; W. O. G., Robert Irwin; W. C., Chas. J. Henkle; P. W. C. T., Saml. Wyatt; L. D., Geo. Kahler. Seventeen members were present but twenty two names appear on the charter.

Last Saturday, says the [illegible], two horses attached to a wagon containing eight persons became frightened and backed off at Grimes' bridge at the lower end of Chat[illegible] falling a distance of twelve feet and literally smashing the wagon to pieces, yet except a few bruises all escaped without serious injury. Mrs. Carnahan, Mrs. Col. Taylor, Mrs. [illegible] J. W. White, Miss Mary Taylor and four children were in the wagon at the time. Of those in the wagon Mrs. White sustained the most serious injury, which was caused by a piece of the bridge striking her after the wagon had reached the ground. Mrs. Taylor who jumped clear of the wreck as it was falling, escaped without a scratch. One of Mr. White's children came very near losing its life. The child was sitting in Mrs. White's lap at the time of the accident, but as the wagon fell the side fell off her lap and Mrs. White received the blow that in all probability would have killed the child. Altogether the escape of so large a party without a single one being broken was a most remarkable occurrence.

Here is a fish story from the [illegible]: A [illegible] of [illegible] size was seen [illegible] day dock last Sunday afternoon, apparently at play in the water. It is probably the [illegible] critter that has been bothering the salmon fishermen in this vicinity the past few weeks. He seems to have a wonderful faculty of scenting out a net, following it and devouring the salmon by the wholesale. He does not act on the principle of "whole hog or none," but ever mindful that the fisherman must have something for the wear and tear of his net, he leaves him a piece of each fish—sometimes a head and sometimes a tail—as his interest in the concern. His lordship has no particular favor among the many fishermen of Astoria, but generously distributes his attention among them all. The fishermen who make note of his close proximity are suddenly taken with a chill and fail to work [illegible] in their net to warm up and making for the hash house charge that night's work to the account of profit and loss. Recently each boat has been furnished with a rifle and the fishermen are now prepared to season the fish with a dose that will put an end to his lordship's depredations."

OUR HONORED DEAD

[illegible]

Saturday, being the 30th of May, was duly observed in this city by the members of Camby and Baker Posts, Grand Army of the Republic, as Memorial or Decoration Day. Of the origin, character and peculiar significance of the day we have made frequent and lengthy allusion [illegible] in the connection.

All arrangements having been completed by the proper committees, the procession was formed yesterday afternoon on Alder between Second and Fourth streets, under the management of Commander [illegible] as instructed by [illegible] Promptly at 2 o'clock the procession marched in the [illegible]

[illegible]

First, the [illegible] Portland Band, Emmet Guard, Portland Light Battery, City Rifles, Washington Guard, City Band, members of Baker and Camby Posts, [illegible] a number of carriages in which were seated invited guests, wives and daughters of the members, Chaplain, etc.

After marching through some of the principal streets the procession headed directly for the Lone Fir Cemetery, at which place the ceremonies were to be held. Crossing the Stark street ferry, the line of march was taken up directly for the City of the Dead. Fifteen minutes' walk brought the procession to the Cemetery grounds. The procession marched into the enclosure, and along one of the principal walks leading to the grave of Dr. H. A. [illegible], a late member of the organization, over whose remains the impressive ceremonies were to be held. A large hollow square was formed about the grave and the ceremonies began. Appropriate music was discoursed by the band, [illegible] which Comrade [illegible] Yates stepped forward and delivered the following

ADDRESS:

[illegible] Once again, [illegible] the records of an order does the unerring hand of time mark the completion of another cycle and the return of this Day [illegible] our laws and customs [illegible] to the noble band of men who in the hour of their country's peril cheerfully and loyally laid down their lives that the country they loved might live. And to-day, in accordance with that memory, have we met together to show by word and deeds and by the beautiful and impressive ceremonies that we prize the heritage by them bequeathed to us and our children. And while we assemble together to add our mite to the homage that is being paid to the memory of a nation's dead, remember that it is not alone here that this homage is being paid, for to-day there will be a general gathering of the nation, and throughout all its borders will the citizens of our Free Republic meet together and show to the world that republics are not ungrateful, neither are they forgetful of the noble deeds and sacrifices of their children.

Although she may not build them monuments of stone and mortar or classic marble, yet will she show a monument of fairer proportion, more beautiful in design, more elegant in its details, more delicate in its tracery, and more classical in all its lights and shadows for it is one whose foundations are laid deep down in the hearts of their countrymen and cemented together by those grand and noble ties—Loyal and Fraternal Love; and to-day, from where the hoarse murmurs of Niagara raise their thunder tones to the everglades of Florida, from where upon our northern border the tiny rill just bursting forth from out the ground and starting forth upon its onward course to help form and swell the volume of Mississippi's mighty stream to where its waters meet and commingle with those of Mexico's gulf, from where upon our eastern shore the moan of old Atlantic's waves breaks upon the stillness of the morning air and are caught up and echoed and re-echoed in swelling notes across the continent until they meet the answering refrain from the distant Pacific; there are gathered America's sons and daughters and they are sending up the [illegible] of praise and songs of thanksgiving to the memories of our honored dead.

These are no idle and unmeaning ceremonies instituted for mere show and vain display. They are the outpourings of the cumulative feelings of sorrow, joy and affection [illegible] by a great nation. They go to make up a grateful tribute cheerfully and loyally paid by fair women and brave men at Liberty's shrine, and as long as the name of Liberty is loved and revered, and there is meaning in the word freemen and citizens of America—as long as the old flag is looked up to with feelings of veneration, loyalty and respect, and while it remains the emblem of freedom, the bright beacon of hope to the oppressed of other lands—while we can say of America that she is indeed "the land of the free and the home of the brave," will this day be reverenced and commemorated, and each year will be but the precursor of another, when fond and loyal hearts will meet together and with the tear of sympathy and the bright flowers of affection keep green the memories of our fallen comrades. To you, my old comrades of the Grand Army, what stirring thoughts and varied scenes, what recollections and memories does this day cause to start from out the ruins of the past and pass in review before you. Again does the old camp life with all its hardships, toil and privations, its glory and honor, its perils, dangers, and escapes, rise up in its freshness and seem as though it was but a dream of yesterday. Again do we stand at the front passing through those moments of dread suspense, wondering whether victory or defeat will crown our efforts, thinking not of ourselves, with hardly a passing thought for the loved ones left at home—all our energies concentrated upon the foe before us, our eyes upon the old flag, from which so glorious field of azure full [illegible] hands have torn some of the bright stars that were wont to shine there, our whole ambition fixed in the one desire to restore our country to the family of nations unbroken and untarnished, shorn not in the least of its prestige and strength. Again do we meet in the night bivouac around the glowing campfire, where with song and story we help the fleeting hours along. Once more we face the elements, the snow and sleet, the rain and hail, winter['s] [illegible] and summer's heat, the deadly miasm and [illegible] now upon the picket line walking the lonely beat with [illegible] the fate of armies depending upon our vigilance, and trust, or with hands inured to toil we seize the pick and shovel and toil as we work like men with sinews of iron and muscles of steel. Again are we marshaled in serried ranks standing shoulder to shoulder, and when the signal is given we rush with [illegible] [illegible] with our lives in our hands [illegible]

Perhaps [illegible] dark and dreary [illegible] of the wounded [illegible] or standing by the [illegible] wounded comrade [illegible] [illegible] willing heart trying to [illegible] [illegible] gentle hand and [illegible] heart [illegible]

Again do we [illegible] hours of darkness [illegible] triumph and joy when the [illegible] of [illegible] that America was in [illegible] [illegible] the home of the free that [illegible] [illegible] who breathed the air of slavery.

The [illegible] of the [illegible] But it is not the [illegible] to be learned [illegible] to be [illegible] struggles to [illegible] maintained. Do you remember that old and homely adage: "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Therefore do not think because the temple of Janus is now closed and the Angel of Peace is hovering over our land we may sit down in indolence and ease. Let us on the contrary remember that we are ever upon sentry duty and be vigilant and watchful for foes without and enemies within, remembering that the character of a nation is formed by the [illegible] individual character of its citizens.

In the dark days of the past we accepted the dread alternative of the sword and rushed to the [illegible] of freedom and liberty, and if we would [illegible] the price [illegible] unimpaired to the generation [illegible] do not let us forget [illegible] which the stain [illegible] purity and honesty in our daily life so that we may be [illegible] individuals and honored and [illegible] as a nation. Then will the flag of liberty protect us and make us [illegible] the nations of the earth [illegible] and a beacon to the struggling millions of other lands. Standing here to-day in the silent city of the dead, encircling the grave of our dead comrade, paying to him and [illegible] by simple tokens of fraternal love and affection their just due, let us pause and reflect and see if we have to the full discharged the high trust by them reposed in us. Are the [illegible] wounds [illegible] up [illegible] of charity [illegible] form? Have the [illegible] and the orphan's cry been heard? Have we been ready at all times to carry words of cheer and comfort [illegible] to the bruised heart and when given in the spirit of true and disinterested friendship worth more than the wealth of India or the jewels of the Orient. Have we endeavored to attain that purity of living in both public and private life that our laws require, and above all have we in sincerity and truth extended the right hand of fellowship to those who but yesterday were our foes in the deadly strife. If not in the words of the noble Lincoln, "With charity to all and malice toward none," let us resolve to atone for the errors of the past by a strong resolve to be more diligent in the future in the discharge of our duties. It seems hardly possible in looking back over the past that nearly a decade and a half of years have passed away since the echoes of that gun fired at Sumter woke the nation and stirred it to its very center, shook the very foundations of society, aroused all the bitterness, anger, hatred and revenge that human nature is susceptible of, that armed brother against brother, father against son, divided families and caused the most sacred obligations men could take to be broken and lightly set aside. And now as we take a retrospective glance, we are forced to pause and return thanks that the deep-marks left by anger and hate have so soon given way and been effaced by the kind and gentle influence of love and good will. It is to our credit [illegible] that to [illegible] the disposition to forgive and forget prevails. Now that time has served to [illegible] and prejudice [illegible] and enabled us to look over the events of that time with cooler counsels, tempered with judgment and moderation, we are forced to acknowledge that they who were our foes were fighting, in honesty and sincerity of purpose, for what they deemed just and right. And to those of us who have felt their trenchant blows and upon many a well contested field have had to go down before their prowess and valor, we cannot help but acknowledge that they were foemen worthy of our steel. And although we were victorious in the end, and have lived to enjoy the full fruition of our hopes to see the old flag floating in all its pristine splendor without one single star blotted out from the bright constellation of our country, curtailed in the least of its area, let us to-day imitate the noble example set by our comrades of the Posts of New York and Brooklyn, who say make no distinction between the grave of him who wore the blue and the one who donned the gray. Let us catch the inspiration and spirit of the poet who says:

> No more shall the war cry sever
> Or the winding rivers be red
> They banish forever our anger
> When they laurel the graves of our dead
> Under the sod and the dew
> Waiting, the judgment day;
> Love and tears for the blue—
> Tears and love for the gray

With this spirit of true Christian love and philanthropy animating us, to what grand results may we not look forward and expect as a nation! What a [illegible] advance might we make along the whole plain of human life toward the elevation and ennobling of the human race. It is by these simple acts that we show there is a communion of feeling between us which tends to encourage and keep alive that spirit of devotion and self-sacrifice for our country that will safely bear her through any crisis of fate and through all perils and trouble by which she may be surrounded. Neither will we forget to bow in gratitude to the Great Giver of all things for the blessings and favors which He has bestowed upon us as a Post during the year that is past. There are no vacant seats around our camp fire: no one of our members has been detailed for duty in the Higher Post above. Success and prosperity have crowned all our efforts and undertakings, and to-day with reverence and humility, with love and affection, do we mention the names of Bodman, Jackins, Bigelow and Green, names inscribed upon the nation's roll of honor, and upon their graves lay wreaths of [illegible] flowers as a token that the example they and the thousands who are now sleeping beneath the shadows of the different cities and hamlets of the land have left us shall be imitated; that their memories and their deeds shall be preserved and laid away in the casket of the heart, as bright jewels that go to make up a nation's crown. And as we leave this place, to begin anew the battle of life, let us endeavor to strike strong and vigorous blows for the right, to strive and help our fellow man one step higher up on the ladder of life, and to so live that when we hear retreat sounded for the last time and tattoo beats for us to extinguish the light of this mortal frame we may start upon the long march through the Valley of the Shadow of Death and find when reaching the golden gates our names upon the great muster roll of the other world as recruits accepted and mustered in by the great Captain of Hosts and King of Kings.

At the conclusion of Mr. Yates' address the old national anthem of America was discoursed by the band, in which hundreds present joined in the hymn commencing with the familiar words, "My Country, 'tis of thee."

Post Commander H. H. Briggs then stepped forward and said:

Comrades—An[illegible] circuit of the seasons brings again to us the day set apart as sacred to the memory of our dead comrades. We have left the peaceful employments, and pursuits of life and assembled here to pay our tribute of respect to the Nation's dead. Let us in gratitude to the Great Commander who has preserved us while so many of our comrades have fallen with bowed heads and reverent hearts unite in invoking the divine blessing.

Rev. T. L. Eliot came forward and invoked the divine blessing.

Prayer being concluded Post Commander H. H. Briggs said:

Comrades—While death comes to us all no life is lost for as the river of Time rolls on to Eternity each life is a tributary into its waters either enriching or polluting it by its presence. Therefore whatever our career here on earth we should aim to leave this world better by reason of having lived therein. The memory of our former comrades is sacred. Their spirit have passed away, but their thoughts and acts have enriched the history of our country and they have left a priceless heritage [illegible] which holds up to us and the age [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] In memory of the Nation's dead we bring these floral offerings. May we ever keep green their memory as a [illegible] roll on [illegible] [illegible] to honor.

Dead March from Saul by the band followed, after which Comrade J. H. Woodward came forward and said:

Comrades—These ceremonies are fraught with instructive lessons and are for the living, to profit by. The children of our own and of all lands learn from these sacred observances that the dead heroes of the American Republic are gratefully remembered. In memory of the men who, in summer's heat and through winter's cold upheld our country's glorious symbol and sacrificed their lives on her altar, we strew these flowers. May their noble deeds keep green in the memory of men while liberty lasts.

Comrade F. W. Ryan stepped forward and said:

With bright offerings of nature's choicest jewels the Nation to-day remembers those who have fallen in her defense. Their deeds are a part of the history of our country and they need no monuments of stone or marble, for their names are [illegible] will not fade from the bright roll of those whom the American people gratefully remember. In honor of the heroic dead I place these flowers.

At the conclusion of the remarks by Comrades Ryan and Woodward, they passed slowly around the grave and strewed flowers profusely about it. Five little girls clad in white came forward and circling about the grave scattered many fragrant flowers over the mound.

These ceremonies being ended Comrade J. B. Reynolds came forward and depositing flowers about the grave said:

Sacred by the loftiest memories of patriotic devotion are our fallen comrades, and we here renew our devotion to our Union consecrated by the blood of so many heroes who died to secure the blessings of liberty to all men. In honor of those who fell in their country's cause we bring these flowers. May future generations profit by the lessons taught by their devoted loyalty and patriotism.

Comrade G. C. Sears came forward and said: As men who have shared the same dangers, borne the same hardships and supported the same flag for which our comrades died, we bring our floral offerings in token of fraternal appreciation of their noble sacrifices. These beautiful flowers are typical of our youthful soldiers who went forth in the spring time of life to dedicate their lives for the preservation of our national integrity and unity. In memory of the honored and heroic dead I deposit these flowers.

Music by the band followed, when Comrade Ryan stepped forward and strewing flowers about the head of the grave said:

Comrades—While it is well and wise for us to refresh our patriotism and purify our faith by the celebration of the memorial rite, let us give thanks to the Guardian hand that has preserved and protected us while so many of our comrades have fallen in defense of our common heritage. Thousands of our loved comrades rest in unknown graves far away from the loved ones at home. They slumber in the land of strangers where the tears of love cannot moisten the green shroud that mantles their ashes, but if no kind hand is there to strew flowers or loved eye to shed a tear of sorrow, there is One who reigns among the eternal stars who keeps watch over their last resting place and nature herself will deck the graves of our fallen comrades, and the winds of Heaven will chant a requiem to their memory and kiss the spot where the patriots sleep, and when the last reveille shall be sounded the Supreme Commander when he receives the hosts of eternity will honor all alike, whether their ashes repose in an unknown grave or beneath a marble slab. In honor of the Nation's dead who sleep in unknown graves we scatter these flowers as bright as their memory and as pure as their fame.

A dirge by the band followed when the ceremonies of the day were closed, and those present were dismissed and an opportunity afforded to decorate the graves of departed friends and relatives. This opportunity was improved by hundreds, and many green mounds were adorned with floral offerings.

In a short time the procession reformed and marched back to the city, when the various companies were escorted to their armories and dispersed. No oration or exercises of any kind were held in the evening. An

IMMENSE CONCOURSE

Of people lined the streets and sidewalks to witness the long procession as it filed past. In response to a general invitation extended to our citizens to accompany the procession to the Cemetery to witness the beautiful ceremonies and for the purpose of decorating the graves of friends and relatives, hundreds of ladies and gentlemen availed themselves of the opportunity and wended their way to the Silent City in which the sacred ashes of fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers were slumbering, laden with the fragrant tributes of Flora, which were to be strewn in sorrowful remembrance above their resting place.

The idea of the Republican Convention resolving against interference in local politics by Federal officers! The convention itself was run by Federal officers, and Federal officers are making the campaign of this county, on the Republican side, to the exclusion of everybody else except the county officers. Scott and Ward and their fellow officials are now busily engaged in that peculiar kind of "organizing" for which they have distinguished themselves heretofore—the kind, in which purchasable men (men?) are "organized" one at a time. Federal officials refrain from interfering in local politics! Why, were it not for the Federal officials the ring ticket of this county would have no following whatever. It is simply the Federal ring's ticket, not the ticket of the Republican party.

The Ring organ still pretends to think Tolman is a candidate for Governor. This is simply ridiculous. There is not a sane man in the State who expects Tolman to be elected. Campbell and Grover are the only real candidates. Tolman has long since disappeared from the contest except as a make-weight against Campbell.

The Bulletin asserts that Campbell Independent candidate for Governor was a secessionist. That is an old falsehood revived. The story has been told before and its falsity has been clearly proved. Everybody who knows anything about Campbell knows the charge is wholly untrue.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING JUNE 1, 1874

DO NOT FAIL TO BE AT THE VOTING PLACES BRIGHT AND EARLY. REMEMBER, THE POLLS OPEN PRECISELY AT 8 O'CLOCK A. M. VOTE EARLY.

VOTE THE INDEPENDENT TICKET

The issue is just as clearly defined to-day as it was on the [illegible] day of October 1873. The Republican party still staggers along under the odious Hipple resolution. That infamy has never been rescinded. Can any conscientious Republican who declined to vote for Hiram Smith—as good a man as ever trod the soil of Oregon—go back upon his record to do it? From every county and precinct in the State of Oregon we have received the decisive answer "No." We believe, honestly that T. F. Campbell will be the next Governor of Oregon. Tolman will lose that ominous 54 per cent, and T. F. Campbell will get it. No Democrat will vote for Tolman. But more than one-third of the old Democratic party will be given to Campbell. Does not every reasonable man know that the disaffection with Grover is all but universal? Is not this true of every county, every precinct, every neighborhood in the State? Of course it is.

The contest, then, is reduced to a square fight between L. F. Grover and T. F. Campbell. Governor Grover must be beaten. The best interests of the State require it. Every branch of the public service in Oregon must be reorganized. The next Legislature will be Independent—everybody concedes that. Shall we not, then, have in the Gubernatorial chair a man thoroughly in sympathy with the law making branch of the Government? We say in all candor that the only method by which these desirable results can be accomplished is by giving to Mr Campbell the entire voting strength of the Indepenent people of Oregon. Do not suffer yourself to be deluded with the false cry that the election of Grover is imminent unless Independents desert their colors and their principles to flock to Tolman's support. Do you want a Ring Governor—a man nominated by the Custom House Ring, supported by money stolen from the General Government, upheld by Holladay and his hirelings, and whose election, should it by some inscrutable decree occur, would be bought? Is it wise, is it prudent to place in the Executive office a man who is a devoted servant of the Railway, an enemy of every public or private enterprise for the benefit of the State that will not inure to the personal benefit of Mr Holladay? Do you want a Ring Governor? If you do, then vote for Grover or for Tolman, it matters little which. With all confidence we appeal for the last time to the voters of Oregon.

VOTE THE INDEPENDENT TICKET!

READ YOUR TICKET BEFORE YOU VOTE.

The ring have adopted all kinds of devices to deceive the unsuspecting voter. Thus a State ticket is prepared which bears the names of all the Republican candidates for State offices with the name of J. M. Caywood, for Sheriff, at the bottom of the ticket. There will be some non-residents of this county who will vote the State ticket in Portland. These bogus tickets will be palmed off on all such, unless the voter shall be extremely cautious.

Another device of the Ring: ballots precisely like the genuine Independent ticket as regards length and typographical appearance have been prepared with the name of Sol Hirsch, Ring candidate for Senator, sandwiched in between the real Independent nominees for the Legislature. The fraud will be detected unless every voter of the People's ticket gives his ballot a close inspection.

VOTE FOR J. H. DOUTHITT!

"Uncle Jimmy" Douthitt is one of the best and one of the ablest men in Oregon. He is a pioneer settler, is widely known as a successful farmer, has an unimpeachable reputation for personal honesty and is in every respect deserving of an election at the hands of the voters of Oregon. "Uncle Jimmy" would make a noble Governor in case of a vacancy in that office at any time. Man is mortal; then think of C. M. Foster as Governor of Oregon in case of Mr Campbell's absence from the State, or other emergency! Foster for Governor! Ugh! Rather give us the venerable farmer statesman—"Uncle Jimmy" Douthitt. Vote for J. H. Douthitt!

VOTE FOR DEMAS BEACH!

Demas Beach, Independent candidate for State Treasurer, is a gentleman of unblemished integrity who commands the respect and confidence of every man who has ever had any business or who is at all acquainted with him. He is a thoroughly honest man, of sober habits and most excellent abilities as a financier. He is a frugal manager, and will watch every disbursement from the coffers of the State with an eye single to the interests of the whole people. Vote for Demas Beach!

VOTE FOR DAVENPORT

Voters of Oregon, you do not want for Representative in Congress a man who has no opinion on all the important questions of the day. You do not want Richard Williams. You want, rather, an honest, self-reliant, thinking, industrious man—a man thoroughly acquainted with the wants of the State and who will command respect in whatever station he may be placed. You want to send T. W. Davenport to Congress, and you will do it too. Vote for Davenport.

VOTE FOR CAMPBELL

If you want to defeat Gov. Grover and thereby relieve the State of the heavy burden of taxation which now weighs her down, if you want to put an end to jobs and jobbery, if you want economy and wisdom in the administration of the State government for the next four years—then vote for T. F. Campbell, the Independent candidate, a man against whom no breath of calumny has ever been successfully directed.

WILL COLORED VOTERS SUPPORT THE RING?

The Bulletin avers they will and intimates very slyly that Mr Caywood has "fixed" the colored vote of Portland. A few weeks ago there was organized a society called "The Colored Men's Protective League." Several communications have appeared in the press professedly emanating from this "League." One of these was published in yesterday's Bulletin:

PORTLAND, May 30, 1874.

To the Citizens of Portland and Multnomah County: We the undersigned members of the Protective League, knowing that we have been somewhat misrepresented in an article appearing in this morning's OREGONIAN in regard to our prejudice to Mr Caywood, the candidate of the Republican ticket for Sheriff, as members of the Protective League and as volunteers of the Republican Legion, have pledged our faith to support the Republican party in this campaign and its last candidate, etc., etc.

JOS. ALLEN, Chairman.

That is: "We, the undersigned (Jos. Allen, Chairman) members of the Protective League," can assure the Ring that we are their very humble, very obedient servants; that we stand prepared to vote for extortioners and all other manner of objectionable characters, provided they are to be found on the "Republican" ticket! This appears on first sight, to be rather cheeky on the part of "Jos. Allen, Chairman," but we have the best of authority for asserting that the real Jos. Allen never signed the above document, that he was not aware of its contents and that his political opinion do not agree therewith. Only last Friday Mr Allen told a prominent colored citizen of Portland that his name had been used in connection with this "League," so called, wholly without his authority and without his knowledge or consent.

This letter is, we believe, a ring fraud. At all events, the greater part of the colored voters of Portland unite in denouncing this advertisement by the ring that it owns the colored people, body and soul. The bitter experience of the colored race in America is likely to make them resent the infamous insinuation that they are the political chattels of any man or set of men. There are a few colored men in this city who are working for the ring ticket. But these will not exceed 15 in number. We are informed that Waters, one of the 15, went to a colored gentleman well known in local politics, and who is also an ardent supporter of the People's ticket and told him that he wanted to work for Jeffery and would have him use his influence with Jeffery to give him some work out of which he could make a little something. As Mr Jeffery is not in this kind of business, the offer was declined. Waters is now working for the ring ticket. We are quite confident that the majority of the colored people will work and vote for that cause in which their highest interests are involved: the cause of honest government, low taxation and purity in the public service—all represented by the People's ticket.

FOR GOVERNOR—T. F. CAMPBELL

Mr. Campbell is a gentleman of superior ability, unimpeachable integrity and high social standing. He will make an excellent Governor. Against him is L. F. Grover, whose errors of omission and commission during the last four years ensure his defeat. Tolman is a candidate—that is all you can say of him. He has no chances of success because he is a ring tool, and people know that he endorsed the Hipple resolution last October, that he is on intimate terms with the bigamous Senator, and that if he should by some unfortunate accident be elevated to the Executive he would be a mere machine in the hands of the Holladay Ring. You do not want a mere automaton in the highest office of the government? Nay, verily, you want an honest, able, fearless Executive who will command the respect of his fellow-citizens at home and abroad. Therefore, vote for T. F. Campbell.

HOW IS THIS, COLORED MEN?

Has it not for two years been a matter of common repute among you that when Mr C. J. Graham, your talented fellow citizen, was running for Councilman in this city, J. M. Caywood, present Ring candidate for Sheriff, worked against him and said at the polls "Niggers are good enough to vote but not to hold office"? This was on the 17th day of June 1872. And do you not know he said at a later day, that he could on election day buy the votes of all the colored citizens of Portland for $2 50 apiece? And yet knowing these things, the Ring managers have the impudence and effrontery to say that you will vote for this man Caywood to-day. Colored men of Portland, what say you to this?

THE BRIBERS IMPORTING AGAIN—THE PROOF

The Rev. Mr Izer, in a speech at the Temperance meeting last night said: "Yesterday a man approached me and said 'how do you do, Father [illegible]' (assuming I was a priest at Astoria). I told him I was no Father [illegible] and did not live at Astoria. The man then said 'I live at Astoria and came up to attend election.'"

An OREGONIAN reporter heard this [illegible] three or four hundred of the best people in Portland. He did not catch the name of the priest. This little incident means something. Let every man construe it for himself. It [illegible] that the ring has on foot a gigantic scheme for importing and bribing.

The Fraud in Clackamas.

By reference to a letter published in another column it will be seen that the same trick of preparing fraudulent tickets which is resorted to by the Ring candidates in this county is being tried in Clackamas county by Johnson and [illegible]. They are sandwiching themselves into Independent tickets and Democratic tickets for the purpose of imposing on the voters. Let the voters beware of these fraudulent tickets.

Noise, Not Votes.

Don't be frightened by the great mob with which the ring intend to surround the polls to-day. Noise is not votes, and if the citizens but see to it that there is no fraudulent votes polled, the ring candidates may have the noise, but the People's candidates will have the votes.

Mr. Dolph's Ring Speech.

Mr J. N. Dolph is one of the few men belonging to the Portland Custom House ring who have preserved the respect of a large part of the community. It has been generally supposed that however far he might go in supporting Hippleism and Holladayism he would not himself stoop to all the arts that have made Hippleism and Holladayism successful in Oregon. But a perusal of his speech published in Sunday morning's edition of the Bulletin is likely to shake the faith of those who have judged him to be an exceptional character among ring politicians. It is little more than a series of untruths about the People's ticket of the county. These untruths are systematically arranged, the speech having been written out and prepared for publication before it was delivered. He arranged and numbered to be delivered the following untruths:

1st. That the People's ticket is put up in the interest of the police ring. So far is this from the truth that the nominating committee expressly pledged their candidates for a reformation in this regard.

2d. That it is a ticket put up in the interest of the Lock and Dam Swindle. This Lock and Dam Swindle, [illegible] such a thing as the ring pronounces it. They ought to know. It was devised and championed by Ben Simpson, one of the most prominent of ring men; it was lobbied for by John Hipple, chief of the ring, by Harvey Scott, supervisor of the Dirty Work department of ring operations in Portland; by Richard Williams, ring candidate for Congress. It was voted for to the last by J. B. Congle, then a ring Representative from this county, and now an active worker for the ring. In fact it got its main support from the ring and they are presumed to know its worst features.

But the story that the People's ticket had anything to do with it or contemplate having is a patent falsehood.

3d. That the People's ticket is in the interest of the Water Bill. The Water Bill is long dead, unless Mr Dolph himself revives it. He offered to report it in last Legislature if he could [illegible] the persons he wanted for Commissioners.

4th. That the People's ticket is opposed to the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railway. This untruth has been refuted so often that it seems hardly necessary to refer to it again. The People's candidates for the Legislature are expressly pledged by resolution to favor that measure and the committee made special mention and approval of the action of our delegation in Congress in endeavoring to secure aid for the enterprise. So this is an untruth it seems almost impossible to allow is unintentional. However prejudice goes a long way with Mr Dolph.

This is the series of untruths which formed the staple of Mr Dolph's speech.

VOTE FOR M. M. OGLESBY

"Dr." H. J. Dawne, Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, has put himself out of the fight by a series of the most remarkable "youthful (or middle-aged) indiscretions." Democratic voters will repudiate him. The election of M. M. Oglesby is thus rendered almost a foregone conclusion. He is a young gentleman of ability and his experience as a practical teacher in the public schools of Oregon peculiarly fits him for the important position to which he will to-day be elevated by the suffrages of the citizens of Oregon. Vote for M. M. Oglesby!

VOTE FOR WM. M. HAND

Wm. M. Hand is a practical printer, and a man well fitted for the responsible office of State Printer. He is an old soldier boy, has defended our frontiers from the red devils of Southern Oregon, was once wounded and left to die, but by good fortune recovered sufficiently to be able on next Saturday, to thank the people of Oregon for an election to the office for which he is a candidate. Vote for Hand.

The ring have organized a company of repeaters to be used to-morrow. The organization was effected some days ago but it was not definitely determined till Friday night to risk an attempt to use them. Friday night at a late hour it was resolved in the secret conclave of the ring managers that the case was so desperate as to require [illegible] desperate remedies, and that the repeaters must be used. They are to be scattered at the different polls and are to [illegible] themselves between legal voters from time to time passing from place to place and endeavoring as far as possible to avoid being challenged. [illegible] the chances of a prosecution. This is the programme as reported to us by one who says he is inside.

The [illegible] county is [illegible] the money sent from Washington to carry the State which will [illegible] put into this county. Add to this [illegible] the candidates themselves will spend without waiting the action of the [illegible] committee, and the corruption fund in this election will probably reach $[illegible] in Multnomah county, unless the barbers shall be intimidated or actually arrested and imprisoned. This is a large sum of money to be spent in a single county in corrupting the ballot box. [illegible] of the Clerks and Sheriff's offices [illegible] enough to compensate [illegible]

What is Hipple [illegible]

[illegible] citizens [illegible] to use whatever force is necessary to prevent roughs and repeaters from voting illegally.

When the voter goes to the polls to-morrow morning he should scan closely the ticket presented to him. We have seen specimens of the ballots prepared by various ring candidates and are prepared to affirm that for intended fraud and trickery they have never been equalled in Portland. [illegible] ballots headed "The Republican Ticket" contain the names of some Democrats, and others headed "The Democratic Ticket" bear the names of Republican candidates. The county tickets are made up in many instances of Republican and People's candidates [illegible] commingled. This is done to deceive the voter. Do not allow yourselves to be deceived. [illegible] your own tickets.

BITTEN BY A DOG.—A few days ago a c[illegible] of Mrs. Beale was bitten by a rabid cur and the injuries are of a serious charac[illegible] The owner of the dog very properly dispatched him and he will do no more damage to offending persons. We have learned of another case in which a little girl of R. C. W[illegible] was the sufferer. The little one was playing on the street when a savage dog pounced suddenly upon her, catching her by the [illegible] lacerating the limb seriously. A dose of [illegible] is a good application for such beasts and those possessing animals having a tendency to attack persons who do not intimidate brutes, should use precaution to keep them securely fastened out of the way.

CITY.

THE ROSEDALE TROUPE —The Boise Statesman of the 26th ult says The Company which arrived here a few days ago consists of the following artists Mrs Robert Fulford the accomplished actress late of the Paxley Sisters the well known actor, Mr Robert Fulford and the talented favorites, Miss May Ford Mrs I Saunders Miss Lizzie Huson Mr Coxten Mr George Caine, Prof L M Hudson Mr W R Porter and Mr D Lewis Our people are favorably acquainted with some of the members of this troupe and the additional members have added very much to their credit and they have gained large celebrity in the towns below here. In Walla Walla, a town not much larger than this they played with good success for three months, and the last night of the best house of the entire season On their way here they played ten successive nights to good houses in Baker City The grand opening to night, at Templar Hall, will consist of the beautiful sensation drama, in five acts from Tennyson's poem entitled Enoch Arden or Under the Palm to conclude with the new side-splitting farce of The Quiet Family

MR AND MRS F M BATES —The Sydney Herald, of April 10th, says of the above artists During the past fortnight the two theaters and the School of Arts have furnished quite a fund of amusement to the public At the Queen's Theater which, under the management of Mr W B Gill, maintains a leading position the business has been very good. Mr and Mrs F M Bates have been performing for ten weeks at this theater with unequivocal success They appeared recently in "Richelieu," "East Lynne," "Tracked," "Camille" "Robert Macaire," "Caste," and "London Assurance" and in the majority of cases succeeded in making a hit. In Robertson's drama of "Caste," Mr Bates appeared as Eccles, and his impersonation must be pronounced most artistic In the other dramas mentioned, Mr and Mrs Bates have won golden opinions, and it is satisfactory to know that their engagement has been extended His Excellency the Governor has given his patronage to the theater

PASSENGERS — The steamer Ajax which sailed from San Francisco yesterday for this port, brings the following passengers Mrs Capt Flavel and 2 daughters Louis Sohns and wife, Mrs J M Anderson Mrs L F Foster C Thompson and family, F Withington J Felar, J W Felt and wife, F C Mosebach wife and son K Taylor Chas Markens I A Caldwell, B. H Davigdor, Thos Bird W C Fairweather and wife, M Dusenberry, Thomas Pakham and family C P Church S Church A Talbott, M Brown, S G Elliott F P Das W J Polly J V Rodie Mrs V Haskell and child Mrs Warren, R G Rex, C P Hall C M Jennings and wife, A Sargent W M Huson and wife, B F Whistler J Redman and family, Mrs J Campbell Mrs J A Moore and daughter D T Jones and 2 children D Jelaseo, J Krimbill Mrs J Dougherty and child, Mrs, S D Townsend and wife, J Kirn and wife, P F Wilcox

BITTEN BY A DOG —A few days ago a child of Mrs. Beale was bitten by a rabid canine, and the injuries are of a serious character The owner of the dog very properly dispatched him, and he will do no more damage to unoffending persons We have learned of another case in which a little girl of R C White was the sufferer The little one was playing in the street, when a savage dog pounced suddenly upon her catching her by the arm lacerating the limb seriously A dose of lead is a good application for such beasts, and parties possessing animals having a tendency to attack persons, who do not intimidate the ... should use precaution to keep them securely fastened out of the way

TEMPERANCE ADDRESS —The Dalles Mountaineer says "The ladies of the Temperance League are arranging for a number of public addresses to be delivered in this place by speakers prominent in the temperance movement The time necessary for the arrangement of the programme makes it impossible to publish it now but due publicity will be given as early as possible John B. Gough, and others we would like to hear, have not been heard from ... we have in prospect such men as Lindsley, Simeon Izer and others from Portland Dr ... from Albany, and Nesbit from Corvallis"

WEATHER REPORT —From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon May 31, 1874

SHIPS COMING —The Astorian says A private letter from Captain Cox of the Privateer written while passing down the English Channel, to sail for Buenos Ayres thence to the Columbia river for Portland, informs us that several of the last year's grain fleet will return this fall for cargoes including the P ... Vindemare and others"

MEETING POSTPONED —There will be no meeting this evening of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society in consequence of the election. The regular monthly meeting will be held next Monday evening June 8th

REMOVAL —Mr R H Tapp the celebrated taxidermist, has removed his place of business to Yamhill street, between First and Second. Bring on your fiery untamed birds

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL —On Wednesday evening a ladies' Fair and Strawberry Festival will be held at the Baptist Church We shall refer to the affair again

In another column will be found the notice of the assignee sale of the estate of Thomas Smedley, by Geo T Myers, Assignee The property to be disposed of consists of a parcel of land situated near the town of North Yamhill, on which is located a splendid grist mill, together with granaries storehouses dwellings, barns, etc; also, all the personal property in and about the mill This will be a splendid opportunity for investment which should not pass unimproved Sale will take place on the 6th of June, at 10 o clock A. M.

Messrs. A P Hotalling & Co have been appointed general agents for Oregon and Washington Territory for the State Investment and Insurance Company of San Francisco The company was incorporated in 1871 with cash assets of $300,000 Some of the best citizens of California are represented among the officers. Agents are wanted throughout the State and Washington Territory In the hands of A P Hotalling & Co, the Company's business will receive full attention We commend those desiring insurance to this Company

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Philip Phillips is going to sing [illegible] Happy people

The John L. Stephens was to take [illegible] salmon at the fisheries on her [illegible]

A former member of the Twenty third Infantry band has lately joined the [illegible] band

Henry W D [illegible] has filed a caveat for [illegible] of his own invention [illegible] favorable mention

The steamer Weed is running [illegible] on the Columbia as far as the Sandy [illegible] is in command

Mark Bell formerly city messenger [illegible] O S N Co., is now steward on [illegible] the right man in the right place

The river is at a standstill but if the present weather continues it will [illegible] there is still some snow [illegible]

A few days ago a gentleman left his purse containing $50 on the counter of the money order department of the Postoffice and [illegible] the money and purse

Senor Morris (Ed Montague) and Miss [illegible] were at Rochester N Y May [illegible] the papers are eulogistic in their praise of [illegible] as a G obe performance

UP THE COLUMBIA.

We had the pleasure of making a trip up the Columbia as far as the Dalles on Thursday and like every person who has traveled that river we enjoyed the voyage True an early start has to be made but the sights that greet the optics of the traveler make up for the inconvenience of early rising which is necessitated [illegible] make connection

On board the [illegible] in charge of Capt Wolf [illegible] familiarly called Captain John [illegible] and who [illegible] know the veteran commander [illegible] at the wheel on this route for the past seventeen years and Purser Ingalls who has also been attached to the line for many years the passengers feel thoroughly at home

The run is made with only two interruptions that of stopping at Vancouver and further on to wood up to the Cascades in five hours where the train is in waiting to transport passengers and freight over the portage The distance is but six miles at the Upper Cascades is soon reached At this point the new and elegant steamer [illegible] commences her run down the river A delay of less than half an hour and the beautiful packet is speeding away to the Dalles The wind was blowing pretty strong and created quite a swell causing the vessel to roll to such an extent as to give a feeling similar to that felt when on the ocean—sea sickness We didn't feel that way but one young man complained just a little At 4 o clock the boat touched at the Dalles All was quiet through out the city business being rather dull at present The place can boast of having several large mercantile houses all of which are well stocked Inexhaustible quantities of stone in the neighborhood afford ample opportunities for building with that material. We observed quite a number of stone buildings which appeared substantial in every respect Many of the dwelling houses are cosily hid away beneath shady trees and gardens are filled with choice flowers and shrubbery making the surroundings most inviting in look A reservoir on the hill back of the city supplies an abundance of pure water—at Portland prices The town is depended upon to furnish light for the streets while artificial means are devised to create a glimmer inside the houses

We observed among the citizens of the burg O S Savage, Aug Lorhart Edward Stearns and Charles Bodman all former residents of Portland the two former engaged respectively in the painting and tailoring business and the latter in the O S N Co's machine shops

The steamer Idaho lies at the landing as a reserve boat. On Friday morning the river was at a stand The rise at this point has been fifty feet

The cars from Celilo bring down very small quantities of grain and flour—the storage houses above being almost emptied The Umatilla House Hotel has closed and is now used as a lodging house in connection with the Umatilla House Mr Thos Smith, the late proprietor we learn will take charge of the Chemeketa Hotel Salem, next August

The canvass is about over in the county—in fact it has been a one sided canvass lately—the Independents having it all to themselves Rain has been a scarce article in the vicinity of the Dalles lately Thirteen saloons exist in the town—how we did not learn Hand "keeps company" (in his office) in the person of a young lady who sticks type to the entire satisfaction of the publisher of the Mountaineer

Mr. Malcolm Moody superintends the delivery of the OREGONIAN for which he finds an active demand

Having seen The Dalles and written of it and of some of its inhabitants briefly time not admitting of an extension, we return to the boat At 5 A. M, with thirty tons of wheat and flour and a dozen or more passengers travel and freighting being quite light the past few days, the Daisy Ainsworth is again under way her prow headed down stream The sensation of the up trip is again experienced a strong wind creating a lively disturbance of the waters The boat pitches and rolls yet the same movement would be manifest with even a stouter built vessel and the Daisy is as strongly built as any of the O S N Co's fleet To the right and left the mountains rise all the way down to the Cascades affording a grand sight to the admirer of romantic scenery We leave reluctantly the elegant vessel (and by the way we met in the purser's office Mr Delano formerly with John McCraken & Co, of Portland,) and in a brief space of time the Lower Cascades was reached Here we found Tom Moffett formerly of Portland, who is "monarch of all he surveys, in the only store visible on the island. Nothing more at this point requires mention The Oneonta starts for Portland at noon We pass rapidly by Castle Rock Multnomah Falls, Cape Horn, Rooster Rock and other points of interest and at 4 o clock arrive at the Company's dock The trip was one of the pleasantest we have ever experienced

TURNERS' FESTIVAL.

After a week's postponement, the Turn Verein of Portland gave their third annual May festival yesterday The spot chosen was the East Portland Park than which a more eligible place could not have been selected Extensive arrangements were made by the committee and all that was necessary to insure the success of the affair was a fine day A more beautiful day for an out door festival could not be desired The weather was bright and clear almost to a fault with a little tendency to sultriness but this trifling drawback was readily overcome Early yesterday morning the Turners formed at their Hall and headed by the city band marched through a number of the principal streets and down to the foot of Stark street On reaching the eastern shore the procession was reformed and marched to the Park From 10 o clock A M until late in the afternoon, the time was occupied in dancing partaking of refreshments and in various games and sports During the course of the day several thousand persons visited the grounds Booths and stands were erected in various places about the grounds where ice cream and drinkables of all kinds were dispensed to hundreds Altogether considered, it was a well conducted affair and the receipts must have been very substantial. Gymnastic exercises of various kinds were indulged in by the Turners which constituted one of the principal attractive features of the day's exercises Brenckle and Marks, on the trapeze, were the main attraction They did well The Oregon City delegation, headed by Mr Schuman assisted materially in the gymnastic feats and at 5 o clock were escorted to the gate where they bade adieu to their friends, and a half an hour later they were aboard the steamer E N Cooke bound for the Falls City

Prizes were offered to members of the various societies for best gymnastic feats but as only a few from abroad were in attendance the contest was postponed The members of the home organization entered for individual prizes likewise the scholars of the first and second classes We append the result of competition

The Vancouver Register of last Saturday says the river [illegible] in the last twenty four hours but the probabilities are that it will recede for a few days and then will commence the grand rise

A letter from Mr Tompkins who resides in the Spokane district Washington Territory states that the crops up there are complete failures the cricket having devastated the whole country

We see it stated that Hon W H Newell editor of the Walla Walla Statesman is a self-imposed Granger candidate for Delegate to Congress This [illegible] very busy of late making speeches before Granger clubs

The Olympia townsite viewed from a distance looks like a pretty maple grove with houses scattered around in it at intervals The hundreds of trees bordering the streets are fast attaining large size and are now in the perfection of their beauty

At work on the railroad between Olympia and Tenino last Thursday were two of the oldest men in the Territory—Mr Crosby of Tumwater aged [illegible] and Father Stewart of Olympia aged [illegible] years—together with Leslie Hewitt Frank Rice and one or two other boys about five or six years old were all busily engaged in grading thus forming a beautiful picture of youth and old age helping the Car of Progress onward

The Tribune says The land office in Olympia has received information that the land case of Sprowl vs Carr which was before the land office here some time since has been decided by the Department at Washington adversely to Carr This case covers property in the town of Tacoma.

Mr Swan writes from Washington City that H A Webster has the contract to carry the mail from Port Townsend via Dungeness and Port Angeles to Neah Bay once a week As Ben Holliday don't want this contract and as Attorney General Williams says it is all right Mr Webster will probably be allowed to perform the service without molestation

M. R Hathaway guardian of the estate of Wm Greene an insane person at Vancouver sold at public auction the personal property of the estate for over $1 000 and desires papers in the counties of Middlesex Mass and Orange New York to copy the foregoing in order that his friends—if any survive—may take steps to give Mr Greene such care as may be requisite

The House of Representatives has passed a bill awarding Messrs Webster Colby and McCullum pay for damages sustained by them by being forcibly deprived of their claims at Neah Bay by the Indian Department The bill awards $23 608 34 as follows $21 108 34 to H A Webster $1 000 to Colby and $1 500 to McCullum The bill has been unanimously reported in the Senate and will become a law at an early day

Shelton Grange in Boise Valley, I T was organized May 23d, with officers as follows David Markham, Master J P Wilson Overseer J H Whitson Lecturer, J B Pierce Steward Charles Hurs Assistant Steward J B Hull Chaplain David Heron Secretary W G Davidson Gatekeeper, Mrs Heron Ceres Mrs Carpenter Pomona Mrs Hull Flora Miss Ella Markham L A Steward

Mr Gordon Henry Agent at Quinalt, gives information about a man who has made his appearance in that region, and who seems to be crazy He lives with the Indians, who treat him kindly He works about their houses, getting wood, cooking and washing dishes He gives his name as Henricks says he came from Port Townsend and is looking for a brother He is about 5 feet 8 inches in height middle aged gray hair and whiskers Was dressed in a grayish suit and upon the left breast showed signs of having been cupped. He informed Mr Fowler that he was going north as far as he could go on foot would swim across Behring Straits and go over to Texas From this it is evident that his head or compass was out of order He is now as Mr Henry is informed with the Queets Indians and he may have friends who would be glad to know of his whereabouts,

AMUSEMENTS.

There will be no performance at the Oro Fino Theater this evening but to morrow evening an excellent programme will be presented to the public We hope to see better houses at the dramatic temple next week The programme is published elsewhere Don't fail to attend on Tuesday evening

Caywood's Usurpation.

It is said Sheriff Caywood has appointed one hundred deputies for election day These deputies are appointed for the ostensible purpose of preserving order but for the real purpose of taking possession of the polls for Caywood

Where does Mr Caywood find his authority for appointing these hundred deputies The law allows him but one The statute from which he derives his power to appoint a deputy is section 462 of the Civil Code and reads as follows

"A Sheriff may have a deputy to be appointed by him in writing under his hand [illegible] filed [illegible] A certified copy of the appointment of a Deputy Sheriff shall be filed with the County Clerk and the person so appointed shall, before entering upon the duties of the office take and file with the County Clerk the oath of office

And the next section says "a Sheriff may also by special written appointment authorize any other person to do any particular act"

Here is all the authority the Sheriff has for appointing other persons to do his work He may have one deputy and no more Any he may authorize any other person to do a particular, specified act, such as securing a specified summons arresting a particularly designated offender, &c Beyond this his appointments are void his deputies are trespassers and liable as such if they attempt to perform the duties of officers, and nobody is bound to take any notice of them as officers

The Trick in Clackamas.

Johnson Adopts Caywood's Plan of Cheating

OREGON CITY May 31 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Permit me to call the attention of the voters of the Fourth Judicial District and especially of Clackamas county, to the fact that the supporters of W Carey Johnson have caused to be printed and circulated in this county bogus Democratic and Independent tickets with the names of Carey Johnson for Judge, and Julius Moreland for Prosecuting Attorney Let voters, who desire to support Judge Shattuck and H Y Thompson, examine their tickets before depositing them in the ballot box Johnson cannot come within one hundred votes of Judge Shattuck by a fair and honest expression of the will of the voters in Clackamas county Be on your guard as the supporters of Johnson are like the fellow who went after the groundhog they've got to have him or their jobs cease and they will resort to ways that are dark and tricks that are vain to secure his election ONE WHO KNOWS

THE BALLOT BOX IS THE ARK OF THE NATIONAL COVENANT, AND HE WHO POLLUTES IT BY THE CORRUPT USE OF MONEY SHOULD BE SMITTEN DOWN!

If you want to save $50,000 a year of the taxes paid by the property of Multnomah county, vote for the Independent candidates for the Legislature

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 1, 1874.

Dolph "Floodgated."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

J. N. Dolph has just finished a speech in which he made some false and ungenerous remarks in reference to myself. I have lived in Oregon for many years and established a reputation for better or for worse without paying much attention to newspaper attacks or the flutterings of wounded birds; nor do I intend to begin now. This much I desire to say in reply to the attacks of Mr. Dolph—a man whom I have never given occasion to say aught against me that I am aware of. I never have attacked him to my recollection, unless he can construe the remarks to apply to himself in my late speech, when I said, in reference to the resolutions of the Albany Convention whitewashing Hipple-Mitchell—that but two men in Oregon had ever had the face to defend them. I did not even then mention his name. Dolph, having attacked me, if he gets the worst of it before he gets through must blame himself.

The first point I notice in Mr. Dolph's statement is that where he said that I never made any objection to corruptions while I was in office nor till I was "choked off." How silly and false, when he and every one else knows that I was turned out of the office of U. S. Attorney because I was doing my duty, in exposing corruption and trying to break it up in this city by prosecuting repeaters and bribers. Again (to go back as far he did, to 1866), it is well known that I denounced the frauds in the primaries in which he and his friends were engaged. And he well knows that he and others came and begged of me to advocate his claims to an election. And in a public speech in the Theater I denounced the fraud, and supported the ticket because Republicans were running for office, though not fairly nominated; and so I stated in said speech.

Again: Dolph says I was actuated by revenge. Now, it don't become me to speak of motives just before an election. I am not running for office. What the public want to know is, are the grave charges made by me true? Mr. Dolph don't pretend to deny all I said about the relation the various appointees who hold place at the hands of the ring, sustain to the Republican party, nor that among them are thieves, murderers and bigamists, and that the public treasury is being now plundered.

As to the Giltner iniquity, in giving him a place as physician to the hospital, Dolph did not deny that he got the place at an increased salary, or that his partner, Mitchell, approached Mr. Kenworthy with the corrupt proposition, which he, (Kenworthy) spurned.

But Dolph either told what he knew to be false, or what he knew nothing about, when he said Doctor Watkins did not have a contract for a year. The protest of Judge Hamilton, to which I referred, states that the Doctor had the contract for a year, and the following is the copy of the written contract in my possession, signed by both the County Commissioners, viz.:

"This agreement, made on the 4th day of December, A. D., 1871, between William H. Watkins, M. D., of the first part, and the County of Multnomah, of the second part, witnesseth, that the party of the first part shall act as attending physician and surgeon at the County Hospital, in said county, for one year from date, for and in consideration of which the said party of the second part agrees to pay to the party of the first part the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars, in United States gold coin; payments to be made monthly."

This illustrates the immense capacity of the ring for lying.

Again, Mr. Dolph told an unmitigated falsehood when he said I got my nomination by bargain. The charge is false in spirit and in fact, and there was no such thing pretended then nor until years after, when the story was started by a convicted felon and published in the N. Y. Herald by him.

The insinuation that I spent any considerable sum of money to secure my election to the U. S. Senate is equally untrue. I was nominated in caucus on the first ballot. Then it was objected that there were some Republicans out of caucus, and on the third ballot I had a majority over all, counting even those who remained out. No man ever had truer or better friends, and unlike some of yours, Mr. Dolph and Mitchell, they did not have to be bought. Those who know my business, know that the first loss I sustained was when the title to a number of the forty-three lots I owned in Portland failed and when the foundry was burned. And the second loss, which doesn't, I am glad to say, leave me a bankrupt, was when you helped to palm off on the public an old impostor by the name of John C. Nixon as Joseph Thomas, by which I was swindled out of over thirty thousand dollars. When a man wrongs another, he don't like him afterwards, and that accounts for Dolph's attack on me.

But, Dolph, it is getting late, and I must answer your case this time by saying that you are in a poor condition to speak the word "bankrupt." Did it not shock you, when you reflected that your own indebtedness, as given into the Assessor by yourself, exceeds the assessment of all your property? Did you lose your property in getting to be State Senator or in helping your "pal," Hipple? Everybody don't get office in that way.

This is the second time you and Mitchell have tried to lead me out of the Republican party, because I have denounced your crimes and corruptions, and I have always stood better in it than you have, and do now.

A. C. GIBBS.

PORTLAND, May 30, 1874.

The election law, section 10, provides as follows:

The Judges of Election shall, if requested, permit the respective candidates, or one or more not exceeding three of their friends, to be present in the room where the Judges are during the time of receiving and counting the votes.

Let the candidates who desire to avail themselves of this provision, bear in mind that in order to have their friends admitted into the room, they must make the request. Every person designated for this service should have in his possession a request to the Judges from the candidate whom he represents. Recollect that a majority of the Judges in all the precincts, and in some all of them, are ring men, and will be likely to take advantage of any technicality of this kind.

Sheriff Caywood, candidate for re-election on the ring ticket, has posted handbills through the county charging E. J. Jeffrey, the People's candidate, with employing Chinamen, while this same Caywood employs Chinamen himself, and pays them out of the $40,000 of the people's money which goes into his pocket. This man Caywood is raising the thief's cry of "stop thief!"

The ring paper insists for Tolman that he is a self-made man. Who has disputed it? Mr. Tolman has no reason to fear that any other person will set up a claim to the credit of the job.

Attend! To Hear is to Obey!

VOTE THE HOLLADAY CUSTOM HOUSE RING TICKET.

WOOD DEALERS—Vote the ring ticket; because nobody but Holladay's man Towler can have wood brought to town on the railroad.

DRAYMEN—Vote the ring ticket; because the ring destroys your business by giving the public to understand that they will not receive freight on their steamers unless it is brought there on the drays and hacks of the Oregon Transfer Company, Holladay's corporation.

HACK AND EXPRESS WAGON OWNERS—Vote the ring ticket; because the ring destroys and injures your business by giving ferry and other privileges to the Oregon Transfer Company, which are denied to you.

LABORING MEN—Vote the Republican ring ticket; because in addition to an honest day's work, you are also required to poll a dishonest vote, for the same wages. This shows your manhood.

TAXPAYERS—Vote the ring ticket. There is no other way in which those much injured youths, Caywood and Harris, can get back the large sums of money they are spending on this election, than by increasing the taxation, and raising their fees. You all know that you are not taxed high enough now.

HOTEL KEEPERS—Vote the ring ticket; because the runners of the Clarendon Hotel are allowed upon the steamers of the Oregon Steamship Company, and upon the railroad cars, while your runners are excluded.

But, fellow-citizens, if you are in favor of equal rights to all, and lower taxation,

VOTE FOR THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATES.

The Bulletin is devoting much of its space to the publication of quack certificates of character for Tolman. One would suppose, from reading the ring organ, that "Tolman" was the name of some patent horse medicine.

If there is anybody who does not believe Caywood employs Chinamen, all that such persons need do to be undeceived is to go to the Court House and see for himself.

How it Will be Managed.

It is generally understood by this time that the Custom House ring will attempt to repeat the frauds of last October. The organization of repeating gangs in the different precincts of the city is complete. It is said that their infamous work will be carried on under the shelter of officers whose sworn duty it is to apprehend the criminals. One hundred deputies to the Sheriff of Multnomah county have been appointed. The plan is to have these deputies stand between the repeater and the Metropolitan Police—between the briber and those who will endeavor to arrest him. Citizens of Portland, beware of this plot!

At convenient places in the various precincts every one of these repeaters will have a change of clothing. As he goes from poll to poll, he will so alter his personal appearance by changing his apparel that his identification will, in certain cases, be a matter of some difficulty. Proper precautions have been taken, and with the exercise of due vigilance the success of this scheme will be almost impossible. Let every man who desires a fair and honest election, be on the alert!

Two hundred dollars for two drinks was paid at a popular saloon in Vancouver, the other day. Old Honesty Smith quietly raked the Confederate scrip in, just as he had helped to rake the Confederate Government in.

Our local money market to-day is devoid of important transactions, the public mind being greatly engrossed with political questions. When these questions are disposed of, as they will be in a few days, we hope to see business resumed with renewed activity. The supply of money in our State at present is perhaps better than for months, if not for years before, and activity in commercial affairs only depends upon a demand for our products.

THE TERRITORIES.

Wool is being shipped in considerable quantities from this way [illegible]

Quite a cutting affray, in which a citizen of Lewiston was pretty badly used up, occurred at Lapwai last week.

Several pack trains, numbering in the aggregate 392 animals, and carrying 62 tons of freight, left Lewiston last week for the mining camps east of that place.

Some time ago Wm. Caldwell, on Lapwai creek, was ordered to give up his farm in the Indian Reservation [illegible] he has been forbidden to remove the growing crops.

James Anderson, while mining in his claim at Newcome Creek, Idaho, met with a very painful accident, caused by a bank of earth caving in upon him. One of his legs was broken in two places.

A gentleman who came from Victoria to Olympia reports that several cases of small-pox exist in that city. The parties came from San Francisco on the Prince Alfred. We hope the report may prove unfounded.
